

What To Do If You Are Stopped By A Police Officer

University Of South Florida
Police Department

Thomas Longo, Chief

Why Would A Police Officer Want to Question Me?

- When an officer questions someone there is an underlying reason. They may be:
 - Checking out a complaint from a citizen
 - Responding to a report of criminal activity in the area
 - Looking for potential witnesses to assist in an investigation
 - Thinking that you are having trouble and need assistance

Why Would A Police Officer Want to Question Me?

- To clarify the situation, they will ask you questions.
- Officers have a responsibility to properly investigate matters that may threaten public safety or involve breaking the law.
- Questions are not necessarily an accusation, cooperative responses can alleviate potential conflict.

When You Are Stopped by a Police Officer, They Will...

- Provide their name upon request
- If in plain clothes, identify themselves when taking action
- Inform a person about the reason for being stopped or questioned
- Only use the amount of force necessary to affect the arrest of a suspect. Excessive force is not tolerated by the Department.

What To Do If A Police Officer...

...Stops You On The Street

- Do be courteous
- Do follow reasonable instructions of the officer
- Do keep your hands visible to the officer
- Do ask to have a supervisor respond if you believe the officer's actions are improper

... Stops You On The Street

- Don't run. It makes you look guilty of something and you could fall and injure yourself.
- Don't lie. You may be charged with opposing an officer.
- Don't get in the way if an officer is taking someone you're with into custody. You could be arrested for interfering.

Why Were You Stopped?

- Police may have a minimal description of a suspect, which you might resemble.
- You might be in an area where a crime has just been committed.
- Your actions may appear to be suspicious and you act even more suspiciously when you see the officer.
- Someone may have pointed you out as a suspect.

What To Do If A Police Officer...

...Stops You In Your Car

- Safely pull over to a place out of traffic flow as soon as emergency lights are activated.
- Sit calmly, with your hands visible on the steering wheel.
- If you have passengers ask them to sit quietly with their hands visible.

... Stops You In Your Car

- Avoid sudden movements or ducking in the seat; these actions can unnecessarily alarm the officer.
- At night, turn on your inside light when you pull the car over.
- Do not get out of your car unless the officer asks you to step out. If you are asked to do so, comply in a calm manner.

...Stops You In Your Car

- Communicate your actions in advance by telling the officer what you will be doing before you move.
- If requested, you must give the officer your driver's license, vehicle registration, and proof of insurance. (Tell the officer where it is before reaching for it.)

... Stops You In Your Car

- If you are issued a citation, you will be asked to sign it.
 - Not an admission of guilt
 - Clarify the circumstances, but guilt or innocence can only be determined in court
 - Arguments over citations or protests about the situation cannot be resolved in the street.

What To Do If A Police Officer...

...Comes to Your Door

- Typical reasons the officer may be there
 - To interview you or a member of your household as a witness to an incident that is being investigated
 - To make a notification
 - To serve an arrest warrant
 - To serve a search warrant

...Comes to Your Door

- You may ask for identification – they should willingly provide ID and state their purpose for being there.
- If the officers have a warrant, you may ask to see a copy of it. Arrest warrants are centrally filed and the officers may not have it in their possession. A copy can be provided at a later time.

... Comes to Your Door

- Search Warrant
 - Any time of day or night
 - Knock and announce unless emergency circumstances exist
 - Owner need not be present for warrant to be served (A copy will be left prominently displayed)
 - A list of seized property will be provided

... Comes to Your Door

- Arrest Warrant
 - Commands the officer to arrest the person named in the warrant
 - Reviewed by the State Attorney's Office
 - Signed by a judge
 - Search of the person arrested and their area under their immediate control

If You Think You Were Not Treated Correctly

- Politely ask questions of the officer to clarify the situation, but do not argue the issue
- Ask to speak to a supervisor
- Call or come in after the incident is over to speak to a supervisor
- File a Citizen's Complaint
