Welcome to the University of South Florida

Dear Bull Family Members:

Welcome to the University of South Florida! We are thrilled that your student has selected USF for an exciting and rewarding college experience. It is always exciting to welcome new students and their families to the Bull community!

Your family will quickly find that the University of South Florida is a very special place filled with outstanding faculty and staff ready to encourage and support your student on this stage of a life’s journey. In addition to challenging academic coursework and research opportunities, USF offers a student-first approach to what we call the BULL Experience. That experience focuses on a positive, holistic, student-centered learning environment characterized by integrity, excellence, diversity, engagement, community advocacy and wellness. Our Student Affairs motto, “Inspiring learning, changing lives, one student at a time,” is at the very core of the work that we do. And of course, we value the important relationship that we will have with you, our students’ family members.

I hope that this handbook will provide information that will be helpful to you and your student. Be sure to also visit usf.edu/student-affairs/parents to learn more about the resources available to Bull families. We look forward to partnering with you and promoting your student’s development, learning and success here at USF.

Being a BULL is an absolutely unBULLievably great experience!

Go Bulls!

Dr. Tom Miller
Vice President-Student Affairs

The Office of Parent & Family Programs

The Office of Parent & Family Programs welcomes you and your student to USF! We are here to help you with the “letting grow” process.

Parent & Family Programs is your resource for everything USF. From family events such as Fall Family Weekend and our Spring event, Family Day at the Sun Dome; to the Parent & Family BULLETin, the monthly e-newsletter; our goal is to help you be part of your student’s life while providing the independence they desire.

Fall Family Weekend is an excellent way to reconnect with your student, meet and greet other parent and family members and show your USF pride. We look forward to seeing you at Fall Family Weekend ‘14!

“Like” us on Facebook (facebook.com/usfparents) or follow us on Twitter (twitter.com/usfparents) to stay up-to-date. Add the Parent & Family Programs website (usf.edu/student-affairs/parents) to your favorites to find numerous resources that will help you encourage your student.

Please don’t hesitate to contact Keri Riegler at keririegler@usf.edu or (813) 974-2896 with questions.

Go Bulls!

Here for You!

First Year Student Checklist

There’s a lot for your student to remember as they start classes at USF. Use this checklist to help remind them of those required items.

Apply for Housing and Meal Plan
Freshmen must live on campus and purchase a meal plan (with some exceptions). Housing assignments are made based on the date of a completed housing application. To ensure your student receives their preferred housing, visit housing.usf.edu today!

Review Tuition and Fees
USF does not mail tuition bills. Once your student is registered for classes, they will find their tuition and fees bill online in OASIS at my.usf.edu. Sign up for e-deposit to allow financial aid and student refunds to be directly deposited into your student’s personal bank account.

Complete the Academic Integrity Module
Remind your student that the Academic Integrity Module, available in Canvas at my.usf.edu must be completed by the first day of class.

Complete the Life Skills for Student Success Modules
The Life Skills for Student Success online educational program, available in Canvas at my.usf.edu, will help your student take a closer look at three areas that present challenges: managing money, alcohol and health and safety. These modules must be completed by the first day of class.

Get Reading
Your student should have picked up their Common Reading Experience book at Orientation. Encourage your student to finish the book before classes start.

Consider Opening a Bank Account
Where will your student keep their money while at school? The USF Federal Credit Union has the only on-campus ATMs and banking locations. Visit their website at hbs.creditunion.usf.edu to find out more.

Purchase your USF ID
Your student can purchase their university ID for $10 in the Marshall Student Center. The ID will serve many purposes, including as an access key to their residence hall and as a ‘debit card’ to their meal plan.

Purchase a USF Parking Permit
Students planning to park on campus must have a valid parking permit. Permits are required for all motorized vehicles 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Students can log in to their parking account through my.usf.edu to purchase a permit online.

Connect with Roommates and Neighbors
Suggest your student gets to know their roommate and neighbors before moving in. They may want to compare packing lists to make sure they are not bringing the same items.
New Student Connections

Committed to community, learning, engagement, inclusiveness, and purpose.

CampU
Held in August before the semester begins, CampU is a 3-day, 2-night, off-campus adventure for first-year students. During CampU, students will build strong bonds with peers, learn USF traditions, and explore personal strengths. With obstacle courses, team chants, and campfires, this adventure experience emphasizes having fun and building social connections so that first-year students gain the confidence and support networks they need to be successful the minute they step foot on campus.

Week of Welcome (WOW)
Week of Welcome is a campus-wide celebration at the beginning of each fall and spring semester that features more than 100 events and activities to welcome your student to the USF family, including the WOW kick-off, class photo, and community plunge.

First Fifty Days
The first 50 days of a student’s first semester at USF are critical for establishing connections to the campus. Building friendships, developing skills and adjusting to the university’s academic rigor are important factors at this time. First Fifty Days keeps students informed about how to stay involved while transitioning to USF with ongoing activities and events!

The Network
The Network is designed to help new students make connections to their peers, the USF campus and our surrounding community. Students register for “networks” that meet weekly and are themed around various passions, interests and hobbies.

More information regarding any of New Student Connections’ programs can be found by visiting newstudent.usf.edu.
Academic Resources for Students

USF offers many resources to support students as they become comfortable with the format of college classes. 78% of students who use these services see an increase of one letter grade. Encourage your student to take advantage of the following resources:

Tutoring & Learning Services
Tutoring & Learning Services is part of the Library Learning Commons and is located on the second floor in LIB 206. Services include drop-in tutor centers for Math, Engineering and Chemistry, as well as scheduled tutoring appointments in a wide range of courses such as math, sciences, language and many standardized tests. Most services are free to USF students. Learn more at lib.usf.edu/tutoring.

Writing Center
The Writing Center is a place for writers of all skill levels to take chances, ask questions and develop their abilities. These services are also found in the Library Learning Commons on the first floor just beyond the Reference Desk. The center's writing consultants are graduate students from the English Department who are qualified to assist all levels of students from first year undergraduate to doctoral level. Appointments are highly encouraged and can be scheduled on the website, by phone or in person. Learn more at lib.usf.edu/writing.

SMART Lab
The new Science, Math, and Research Technology (SMART) Lab is equipped with more than 300 new computer workstations to provide a hands-on learning space geared toward improving student performance in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) related coursework. Learn more at lib.usf.edu/smart-lab.

Presentation & Media Rooms
Students may use the Library’s media viewing rooms for course-related presentation practice on a first-come, first-serve basis. These rooms are equipped with large-screen projectors, computers with PowerPoint and other software, and laptop hookups.

University Police (USFPD)
The USFPD has an authorized strength of nearly 50 state-certified, academically-trained law enforcement officers, plus support staff. Our highly-trained police officers are very sensitive to the needs of our students and strive to establish relationships based on trust and mutual problem solving. Learn more about the USFPD by visiting usfpd.usf.edu.

SAFE Team
SAFE Team is a free on-campus escort program (offered by Student Government) that provides students with safe options for traveling throughout campus at night. Students who call (813) 974-SAFE during operating hours can have an escort accompany them by foot or golf cart to their destination, or wait with them until their ride arrives.

Blue Light Emergency Telephones
The Blue Light Emergency Telephones located throughout campus connect callers directly to the USFPD. A student can activate a phone at any one of the blue light locations on campus and report their emergency to the USFPD Communications Center. These phones automatically indicate the location of the caller to the USFPD, even if the caller is unable to speak.

Emergency Notifications
Remind your student to sign up to receive important emergency text notifications via our MoBull alert system. They can sign up at mobull.usf.edu and will receive campus emergency alerts anywhere, anytime conveniently on their cell phone.

Campus Safety

One of the many advantages to attending USF is that we are a large thriving campus located in a major metropolitan area rich with cultural and environmental experiences to support your students’ growth and education. Through a special initiative with county officials and agencies, as well as with off-campus housing affiliates, USF works to enhance the safety of our students off campus. On campus, we make every effort to provide a safe and secure environment that is conducive to living, learning, and working on campus. Here are some of the many services provided:

Top Tips for Maintaining Wellness

Encourage Your Bull to Live Well to Be Well

Did you know that eight out of the top ten reasons why students struggle in their first year of college are health and wellness related? That’s right! Concerns like stress, sleep problems, depression, anxiety, and alcohol abuse have been linked to failure in college. Partner with us to ensure that these issues don’t become barriers to your student’s success.

Our Wellness USF team is focused on teaching your student about wellness and providing valuable free services to support their success while at USF and healthy habits long after they graduate.

Here are some tips to help you enhance your student’s overall well-being. Encourage them to:

▶ Select healthier foods and never skip breakfast – Breakfast can improve energy levels, help maintain focus in the classroom and increase the overall quality of a student’s diet. Students should choose leaner protein options, make half their grains whole grains and consume plenty of fruits and vegetables.

▶ Utilize Student Health Services – Should your child become ill, USF’s Student Health Services provides free general medical care and immunizations.

▶ Enjoy a rainbow of fruits and vegetables in the dining hall – Healthy options are available. Students should look around before grabbing the first thing they see. Dining Hall managers are on hand to answer questions about menus and ingredients.

▶ Maintain hydration – Dehydration is often mistaken for hunger. Your Bull should keep bottled water close by and limit their consumption of beverages high in sugar or caffeine.

▶ Stay physically active – Campus Recreation offers numerous ways students can be physically active at all hours of the day. Be sure to take a tour of the fitness center, try a group exercise class or take advantage of adventure trips. Physical activity is a great way for Bulls to manage their stress and meet new people.

▶ Take advantage of USF’s free wellness services – The Wellness Center in the Marshall Student Center is a place students can treat themselves to a 5 minute high-tech chair massage or have fun playing Xbox Kinect.

▶ Recharge with sleep – 7-9 hours of sleep is crucial for optimum performance inside and outside of the classroom. Your Bull should stop by the Wellness Center to pick up a free sleep pack.

▶ Get connected with friends and organizations – While loneliness can be a normal part of the college transition, students who are socially connected and engaged on campus cope better with homesickness. Students should be encouraged to ask a friend if they are feeling overwhelmed and need help.

▶ Address signs of stress early – Forgetfulness, moodiness and fatigue can all be early signs of stress. Bulls need to make stress management a part of their everyday college life.

▶ Create a care plan – If emotional concerns of mood, anxiety or substance use have been a part of your student’s past, ensure your student has a plan for how these emotional care needs will be met. USF’s Counseling Center can help (usf.edu/counsel).
Family’s Guide to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The FERPA is a federal law designed to protect the privacy of a student’s educational record. Students over the age of 18 have exclusive access to their records including grades, transcript, academic progress or tracking, disciplinary records and other information related to the student’s education. USF is only permitted to discuss and share this information with the student.

Some parents are initially frustrated by FERPA guidelines, especially if they are paying the tuition and other bills. However, USF sees this as an opportunity for parents to develop or enhance a trusting relationship with their student. We feel it is important for students to have the independence to grow and learn from mistakes, but recognize the importance of the family’s support system.

We encourage you to talk with your student and make a plan built on mutual respect for having discussions relating to academics and goals. You can maintain this relationship throughout the semester by trying some of the following strategies:

- Make yourself available for a conversation about goal setting, time management or other concerns that may face your student.
- Show support by sending encouraging text messages, emails, letters and packages.
- Take an interest in your student’s classes by asking about what they are learning.
- If your student shares exam dates with you, follow up on the results and respect their decision regarding how much information is shared.

If after having these conversations, your student finds they are more comfortable with you having access to their records, they can complete a waiver from the Registrar’s Office granting a specific individual access to the student’s record. This form can be downloaded from registrar.usf.edu and submitted electronically.

Whatever your student’s decision is regarding access to their record, we hope that you will continue to play a supportive role. College is a unique opportunity for students to grow and gain valuable knowledge through their experiences. Your role as a parent or family member is instrumental in helping to process this knowledge and continuing growth.
Join a fraternity or sorority?
The Greek community at USF consists of over 40 recognized chapters, including 23 fraternities and 21 sororities. Your student can learn more about the process of joining a fraternity or sorority by contacting the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life at (813) 97-GREEK (-47335), online at www.usf.edu/OFSL or stopping by the office on the second floor of the Marshall Student Center.

Make a difference in the community?
USF is a campus that is devoted to developing global leaders to affect our community, whether it be on campus, our local neighborhoods, or globally. The Center for Leadership & Student Engagement (leadandserve.usf.edu) offers leadership and service learning programs that help students discover passions and talents, while developing skills and understanding of leadership and active citizenship.

Get involved in a campus organization?
There are more than 700 student organizations at USF! Through a variety of organizations, activities, programs, events, workshops, and services, there is truly something for everyone. The Center for Student Involvement (involvement.usf.edu) is a great resource for students wanting to find their place at USF. Your student can visit our office on the third floor of the Marshall Student Center or visit the CSI website to find an organization or activity that suits their interests.

Get a jump start on meeting new people in their residence hall?
Encourage your student to become part of the Bull Haul Crew and help other new students move into their rooms on opening day, or join the Building Council or the Residence Hall Association. Find out more on housing.usf.edu.

Learn more about multicultural programs?
Suggest that your student visit the Office of Multicultural Affairs (multicultural.usf.edu) on the third floor of the Marshall Student Center to learn about multicultural student organizations and programs designed to help all students appreciate a multitude of identities so they may become conscientious global citizens.

Learn more about financial wellness?
Refer your student to the Bull2Bull Financial Education Program (B2B), a peer to peer program (usf.edu/financial-education), designed to enhance the financial wellness and awareness of undergraduate students.

“There’s Nothing to Do”

Involvement is an important aspect of your student’s college experience. Students who are involved outside the classroom develop valuable leadership skills and learn how to maintain a great balance between their social and academic life. If your student tells you “There’s nothing to do on campus” remind him/her about the resources that were presented at Orientation, then suggest they visit the Student Affairs website at sa.usf.edu to check out the events calendar and explore their many options, including the following:

Encourage them to attend Week of Welcome events. During the first week of school each semester (newstudent.usf.edu), various departments and organizations sponsor programs and activities. With lots of events to choose from, your student is bound to find things that interests them and connects them with new friends and resources.

Remind them to read the Note-A-Bull News, (sa.usf.edu/News-Publications/ note-a-bull.asp) a weekly e-newsletter that arrives in their student e-mail every Friday, sharing information about upcoming events, programs, activities, and important deadlines.

Remind your student to take part in USF traditions on campus. There are many celebrated fun USF traditions, including Homecoming, Movies on the Lawn, USF Week, and Stampede of Service that they can attend or help plan!

Suggest they attend an athletic event. It’s a great way to generate school spirit and have a great time with friends and classmates. With 17 sports teams represented at USF, there is always an athletic event to attend. The schedule for all teams can be found at gousfbulls.com.

Encourage them to check out USF’s amazing arts. An abundance of artistic talent on campus means there is a full schedule of concerts, recitals, and exhibits for your student to attend. Visit arts.usf.edu for a listing of upcoming events.

Encourage your student to check Facebook for upcoming events. Suggest they join the “USF Class of 2018” group (facebook.com/groups/USF2018) to keep updated on campus events, organizations and more.

Suggest they join a campus organization. With over 700 organizations (involvement.usf.edu/orgs.htm) on campus, your student’s options are wide-open. From academic and professional organizations and special interest groups to fraternities and sororities and multicultural student organizations, there are so many ways to get involved!

Conversation Starters for Parents and Families

Try these five questions to get the conversation flowing with your student:

1. What campus events have you gone to? What groups have you joined? If you haven’t joined one yet, have you found some that interest you?
2. What would you put in a time capsule that showcases your freshman year in college?
3. What is your plan if you get sick? Have you been to Student Health Services?
4. How are you managing your workload? What is your study schedule?
5. How are you maintaining a healthy lifestyle?
Advice from Seasoned Family Members

“Relax. You have reached your first goal (and pat yourself on the back for helping them choose USF). Let them run with the ball. Believe me, they will be the first to let you know if they hit an insurmountable hurdle that requires your (gently given) advice. Be busy enough with your own life that they perceive it to be how confident you are that they are going to do very well with their lives. Be ready to hear all about it when they are ready to share. Instead of expecting calls, adapt to texts or messaging on Facebook. Remember, nothing says love like your homemade chocolate chip cookies and an extra Starbuck’s gift card.”

“You have to let go of your baby. We believe we taught them well and they have to learn to fly on their own. Don’t be the overbearing parent, but always be there for them when they need it, and sometimes they might not even know when that is. Keep the lines of communications open and watch for signs when something is just not quite right. It is a big adjustment for all, but one that can be done with ease. And if the parent needs to vent make sure to seek out other parents that have been there and done that.”

“We did something fun that I hope can help other parents and incoming freshman make this tough time more enjoyable! We went shopping! When it was time to take my son to USF and his dorm, we both were stressed, teary eyed and anxious. We both saw that we had forgotten to pack a few things so we headed off in search of a store. We found a bustling, safe, fun shopping area that turned our bittersweet tears to laughter. A good adventure has a way of making a great memory and he felt more confident and comfortable in his new surroundings! My son is now a sophomore and when it came time to bring him back this year, he made sure to let me know he wanted to ‘pick up a few things.’ Now we have a fun tradition for drop off!”

Get what you need to help your student succeed.

USF Traditions

Bulls Service Breaks
Started in 2001, the Bulls Service Break program provides a variety of low cost, week long and weekend service opportunities. There is no more powerful service experience than when students are fully immersed in new communities and social issues. These include Spring Break trips, Fall/Winter Break trips and International Break Trips.

Bull Market
A decades-old tradition, Bull Market’s original venue was in the outdoor mall behind the University Center, which was eventually rebuilt and renamed the Phyllis P. Marshall Student Center. Today, the market is held outdoors on the MLK Plaza, just south of the Marshall Student Center. Every Wednesday during the fall and spring terms, the market fills with students, staff, and faculty eager to find a bargain, learn about organizations on campus and in the community, and catch up with friends and colleagues.

Class Photo

OUR Shirt
In 2007, Student Government established the first OUR Shirt. The OUR Shirt is the official uniform for all USF athletic events, uniting our student body and drawing attention to the student section especially during football games. The original design team consisted of a number of professionals from USF athletics and several student leaders. More than 10,000 shirts were sold that year. It is now a standing tradition with an annual competition where students submit their proposed designs and the student body votes to select the year’s design. The OUR shirt can be purchased in the USF Bookstore.

University Lecture Series
The University Lecture Series (ULS), started in 1986, is a student-run program designed to present interesting and relevant lectures on a variety of scholastic and community oriented interests. Past guest lecturers include actor Kevin Bacon, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Reverend Jesse Jackson, and Jerry Greenfield (Ben & Jerry’s). The series encourages our community to freely and respectfully share new ideas, opinions, and values in a thoughtful, respectful manner.

USF Week
Established when former Tampa Mayor Pam Iorio declared April 9th to be USF Day in 2010, the one-day celebration has morphed into USF Week, the spring semester’s smaller version of Homecoming, and includes a number of events celebrating USF pride such as a talent show, sports events, and Rocky D. Bull’s Birthday Bash.
What conversation do you wish you had with your family before starting your first year of college?

I wish my parents would have pushed me more to really see what I wanted to do with my life and what my true passion was. I didn’t realize how lost I was in what I wanted to do with my life until my 2nd year at USF. I don’t blame them at all because I was the first sibling to go to college but I wish I could have had more guidance.

—Yabi Demissie, Junior, Major – Public Health

What was the best thing your family did for you that helped with make the transition to college life easier?

My family coached me through all the applications and forms I had to fill out as opposed to filling it out for me. They also encouraged me to ask questions and verify my account statuses to help develop my responsibility level.

—Emilio Javier Lorenzo, Sophomore, Major – Biomedical Sciences

Learning time management is very important during your freshman year. What tips can you share to help parents encourage their student?

Something my mom did to help me out was to listen to me. She never told me what to do even when I did go a little overboard with the amount of work I took on. It really helped me out because just talking to her helped relieve my stress and understand that there would be a way to get the work done. It helped me learn that with time management skills, you can do anything you want.

—Philip Gelia, Junior, Double Major – Accounting & Finance

How did involvement on campus help you during your freshman year?

As soon as I got on campus, I got involved with hall council in my residence hall. It was a really great way to become acclimated with USF. I learned a lot. I learned how to run meetings, relate to other students, and plan programs. I saw this as very helpful even in my science major because relating to people is important everywhere.

—Tommy Richards, Sophomore, Major – Biomedical Sciences
How did you find the balance between having fun and studying/projects?

I have excelled in my college career by virtue of some advice that my mother gave me as she saw me off in the airport, en route to a foreign land. She said, “To be forewarned is to be forearmed, preparedness is the key to success.” At the beginning of the semester, students should go through their syllabi, note all the exam dates on their calendar, and map out classes on the daily schedule. This allows you to allocate time, and have a visual representation of free time versus study time.

—Rhondel Whyte, Senior, Major – Electrical Engineering

What is one piece of advice you would give to parents who are “letting their student grow” for the first time?

To believe in their student; to show their student they will be there no matter what they want to pursue in college; to always believe in them even in the worst of times.

—Josh Soto, Junior, Major – International Studies

Name three things you recommend new Bulls do during their first year at USF.

Although I’m a transfer student, I would like to encourage first year students to: Sit down with an advisor and literally MAP OUT their college career. Establish where you THINK you want to go and have a really good conversation with this advisor to know if where you think you want to go is where you really want to go because you don’t have time to waste. Find someone (a professor, someone at a job fair, or visit a local office) who has been in the field you want to be in and find out what worked for them. Get some advice. STUDY ABROAD! It will change your life. If you study abroad, don’t just go to some of the common vacation or tourist destinations, dive into the rich culture of Spain, Asia, or South America. There is so much to learn and it’s a humbling experience.

—Joe Johnson, Junior, Major – Health Sciences on a pre-med track

Share some study tips that helped your transition from high school to college classes.

1. Study ahead in all of your classes.
2. Read the readings.
3. GO TO CLASS! Do everything in your power to get out of bed and go to class, you will never regret it.
4. Make sure you sleep.

—Brandi Arnold, Junior, Major – Business Management and Communication

What is one piece of advice you would give to parents who are “letting their student grow” for the first time?

To believe in their student; to show their student they will be there no matter what they want to pursue in college; to always believe in them even in the worst of times.
