INSTRUCTIONS: Although you have already been admitted, deferring your admission to another term does not guarantee future admission. You must obtain permission from the program. This request must be submitted directly to the graduate program and must be processed within 12 months of the original admission and before the program's application deadline to the new term. For program locations, go online to: http://www.grad.usf.edu/programs_college.php. Please fill out the Personal Information, New Term of Entry and Graduate Program sections completely; failure to do so will delay the processing of your request.

International Students Only:

International students must also provide a new Financial Statement and Promissory Note of Financial Support dated less than 12 months prior to the desired term of entry. Please refer to the International Services website for further information:
