

Bachelor of Arts in Communication Sciences and Disorders/Language-Speech-Hearing Science

The concentration in Language-Speech-Hearing Science (LSH) provides pre-professional study that prepares the students for Master's level preparation in Speech-Language Pathology, or Deaf Education, or for entry into the clinical Doctor of Audiology degree (AuD). Coursework is sequenced for the LSH concentration in Language-Speech-Hearing Science. All students must complete study in basic knowledge of the communication sciences and in basic knowledge of communication disorders.
