FUNDED RESEARCH

CURRENT GRANTS AND CONTRACTS

Co-Investigator (2019 – Present). Child and Family Studies, College of Behavioral and Community Sciences, University of South Florida. Parent Partners for Families of Miami-Dade (PPFF). The PPFF program includes a comprehensive evaluation of collaboration, program implementation and process, and program outcomes. A stepped wedge cluster randomized study will be conducted to assess child and family outcomes. The evaluation will develop components of a manual specifying the components of the PPFF model for replication by other child welfare lead agencies. Funded through Administration for Children and Families (ACF), US DHHS. Amount: $276,000.

Co-Investigator (2016 – Present). Child and Family Studies, College of Behavioral and Community Sciences, University of South Florida. IMPACT Project. The overarching objective of the IMPACT (Identify Measure and Prevent Addiction and Childhood Trauma) Project is to demonstrate that an integrated continuum of care, combined with an intensive family engagement component and peer support, will result in increased parental retention in treatment, enhanced provision of targeted services for children and parents, improved parenting practices, and a decrease in family trauma. The ultimate aim is to enhance child and family well-being and reduce incidences of re-abuse, child welfare re-referrals and removals. Principal Investigator (2014 – Present). Child and Family Studies, College of Behavioral and Community Sciences, University of South Florida. Arizona System of Care Practice Review (SOCPR). The purpose of this project is to provide analysis of statewide System of Care Practice Review (SOCPR) data for the Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS). This SOCPR project will help identify trends and opportunities for practice improvement at both the regional and statewide levels. As part of this, a data collection and data storage process will be developed which will allow comparison of data trends over time. Amount: $134,793.

COMPLETED GRANTS AND CONTRACTS

Co-Investigator (October 2016 – August 2017). Child and Family Studies College of Behavioral and Community Sciences, University of South Florida. Sulphur Springs Neighborhood of Promise (SSNOP) Stability Study. The purpose of this study is to help the SSNOP Leadership Council learn more about the conditions experienced by community residents in their homes and in the neighborhood, which may affect the long-term stability of Sulphur Springs. One of the key objectives of the SSNOP is to enhance neighborhood stability as a means of ensuring the long-term academic success of children attending Sulphur Springs K-8. The study focus is on identifying the issues that local residents and their families face despite services received, which place them at risk of high rates of mobility – i.e. moving with high frequency both within and outside of Sulphur Springs – and, which places their children at risk of poor academic outcomes.

Principal Investigator (February 2016 – April 2017). Child and Family Studies, College of Behavioral and Community Sciences, University of South Florida. Arizona System of Care Practice Review (SOCPR). The purpose of this project is to provide analysis of statewide System of Care Practice Review (SOCPR) child welfare data only for the Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS). This sub-project will broaden the scope of the SOCPR project by increasing the usability and sustainability of the data to meet the needs of the communities within the state of Arizona by retrospectively investigating a specific population of children within Arizona. As part of this, a data collection and data storage process will be developed which will allow comparison of data trends over time. Amount: $41,009.

Principal Investigator (December 2015 – October 2016). Child and Family Studies, College of Behavioral and Community Sciences, University of South Florida. Arizona System of Care Practice Review (SOCPR). The purpose of this project is to provide analysis of statewide System of Care Practice Review (SOCPR) data for the Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS), Division of Behavioral Health Services (DBHS). This SOCPR project will help identify trends and opportunities for practice improvement at both the regional and statewide levels. As part of this process a data collection and data storage process will be developed which will allow comparison of data trends over time. Amount: $30,621.
