The University of South Florida invites applications for instructor positions in

Computer Science and Engineering

November 5, 2018

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering is seeking full-time Instructors who can teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Special emphasis is on candidates who also have computer system administrator experience and could be in charge of the Department data center and teaching laboratories (with appropriate teaching release for this duty). The University offers a promotion path for instructors. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Candidates must have completed a PhD in computer science, computer engineering, information technology, or a related engineering area from an accredited institution. Successful candidates are expected to start in fall 2019.

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering (http://www.usf.edu/engineering/cse/) has 28 tenure-track/tenured faculty members, 11 instructors, 7 staff members/advisors, and offers BS, MS, and PhD degrees, serving nearly 2000 undergraduate, 120 masters, and 100 PhD students. The Department has a strong working relationship with cyberFlorida formerly known as The Florida Center for Cybersecurity. Department ranks include twelve NSF CAREER awardees, one National Academy of Inventors (NAI) Fellow, four IEEE Fellows, four IAPR Fellows, three AAAS Fellows, and three AIMBE Fellows. The Computer Engineering graduate program was ranked 50th among US public universities by US News and World Report (2019). USF CSE is in the top sixth (rank 31) of Computer Science departments at U.S. public universities, according to the most recent Academic Analytics data based on Scholarly Research Index. USF CSE faculty members have 31 issued patents, own seven copyrights, and have executed eight license/option agreements between FY12-FY16.

The College of Engineering at the University of South Florida is ranked at #55 among public institutions by U.S. News & World Report’s 2019 engineering graduate school rankings.
