Assistant Professors Zhuo Lu (PI) and Mahshid Rahnamay Naeini (Co-PI) awarded a 2-year NSF Grant for $140,000

The project is on “Collaborative Research: CyberTraining: Pilot: Interdisciplinary Training of Data-Centric Security and Resilience of Cyber-Physical Energy Infrastructures”. This project establishes a novel model for energy cyberinfrastructure resilience and security training. The curriculum and instructional materials that are developed integrate advanced skills from multiple areas under the umbrella of cyber-physical energy systems. The project will immerse undergraduate/graduate students and research scientists in a unique training opportunity through laboratory demonstrations and mini projects. The project is in collaboration with Florida Atlantic University.
