About the Honors College

The mission of the Honors College is to develop tomorrow's leaders by providing first-rate educational opportunities to the most highly motivated, intellectually curious, and academically accomplished students at USF.

We value critical thinking, clear communication, collaborative learning and problem solving, creativity and innovation. Students graduating from the Honors College will be poised for success in their futures, having challenged themselves through academic exploration, grown as a global citizen, invested in their communities, and conducted research in a collaborative team environment. They will be competitive applicants for national scholarships, top-tier graduate schools and employment.

Academics:

Honors Courses introduce and develop critical thinking, communication, and research skills, in an intimate setting conducive to building relationships and promoting collaboration. You will complete:

- » Two IDH Honors Core Courses
- » Research Track: Innovation or Discovery

**Detailed curriculum standards are on the back of this brochure.*

Community Engagement

We believe learning extends beyond the four walls of the classroom. The people and places in our local community offer lessons that complement and reinforce classroom-based learning.

Students will accumulate 25 hours of community service, to be logged on the Co-Curricular Transcript through BullSync.

Service hours may overlap with those required for the Global Citizen Award, or other pre-professional goals.

Global Experience

Global awareness is a critical element in the education of twenty-first century leaders. Students have the opportunity to choose two activities from among a variety of meaningful options to build global knowledge and to develop competency in cultural interactions.

Honors College students will develop these qualities through activities outlined in our Global Experience program. Detailed options are on the back of this brochure.

We accept experiences completed at any point during your college career. Ask your advisor for details.

Once you complete each activity, submit the appropriate form at <http://www.usf.edu/honors/current-students/forms.aspx> by May 1 for payment on the following Fall term, or by December 1 for payment on the following Spring term.

Honors and Degree Requirements

Honors courses may also meet some major course requirements. Please check with your advisor to see how courses may fit into degree requirements.

Research Track Options

There are four ways to complete the research requirement:

1

Discovery Track I: Honors College Thesis » Students will enroll in two semesters of Honors Thesis coursework while working on an independent research project on a topic of their choice under the guidance of a faculty member they select.

2

Discovery Track II: Thesis through Departmental Honors Program » Some academic departments offer their own honors programs, which include a thesis. Honors College students have the option of completing thesis through their departments in order to meet Honors College requirements.

3

Innovation: Honors College Capstone » Students will enroll in an Honors Capstone class, plus one additional core Honors course of their choice. The Capstone brings Honors students together to take an interdisciplinary approach at solving real-world problems through undergraduate research and practical application.

4

Other Options » Engineering majors will enroll in a one-semester course called Honors Thesis for Engineers. This class, in addition to their major Capstone/Senior Design project, meets the Honors College requirements.

Global Experience Options

In order to complete the Global Experience requirement for the Honors College, students must choose two of the following activities to complete, and have each approved by their advisor:
