Lynda.com is becoming LinkedIn Learning. USF accounts will be migrated June 18th. If you have been an active user, your lynda.com learning activity and history should transfer to LinkedIn Learning automatically.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Is the content the same on LinkedIn Learning as on Lynda.com?
A: Yes, all of the same content from Lynda.com will be on LinkedIn Learning.

Q: Will I have two separate accounts for Lynda.com and LinkedIn Learning?
A: No. When the migration is complete, all of your history, in progress and bookmarks will be in your new LinkedIn Learning account.

Q: Do I need a LinkedIn account to use LinkedIn Learning?
A: No, you do not have to have a LinkedIn account to use it.

Q: Will the certificates of completion be migrated as well?
A: Yes. All work history will be migrated.

Q: How do I link my USF LinkedIn Learning with my non-USF address with LinkedIn?
A: When you activate your LinkedIn Learning account, you will have the option to connect your personal LinkedIn Profile if you wish. (If you elect to connect the two accounts at activation and then change your mind, you should contact the Help Desk so a LinkedIn Learning Admin can disconnect the accounts).

Q: Can I continue to use Lynda.com while the migration is going on?
A: No. We are expecting up to 24 hours of downtime.

Q: How do I sign in to LinkedIn Learning?
A: The process will be similar to the way you accessed Lynda.com. Click here for Sign-In Instructions.
