RECRUITMENT

Are there Information Sessions?
No, there are not information sessions for the INTL OL position. However, if candidates have any questions about the position, they can call, email, or stop by the office or email/meet with the International Coordinator to get their questions answered.

I received an e-mail that I was nominated by my Orientation Leader. Does this mean I am guaranteed/have a better chance at becoming an Orientation Leader?
No. As stated in the e-mail: this nomination does not give you priority over other candidates in the application process; it just means someone who has been an Orientation Leader sees your potential and wants you to apply!

What do I do as an Orientation Leader?
Great question! Orientation Leaders help provide new students and their families with a seamless transition to the University of South Florida. We suggest thoroughly reading the position’s Information Packet. This outlines position competencies, descriptions, and a list of various dates and commitments to keep in mind. You can find these packets on our website: http://www.usf.edu/orientation/get-involved/index.aspx.

Do I have to be a first year student to apply for the Orientation Leader role?
No. Any student who is a current degree seeking undergraduate student can apply for the Orientation Leader for the international demographic

Where can I access the Orientation application?
Our application link can be found at http://bit.ly/2019GlobesOL or via our website at http://www.usf.edu/orientation/. From our website, click “Join Our Team” at the top of the page to access Information Packets, the application link, and much more!

Do I have to be involved on campus in order to apply to be an Orientation Leader?
Yes, it is highly recommended that you are involved on campus and have a leadership position or a work experience.

I graduate in the fall or summer. Can I still apply?
Yes! However, you must be a USF student through summer 2019. However, if international students graduate in the summer, they will not be eligible to work Glo-Bull Beginnings Week due to their visa requirements.

I graduate in the spring semester. Can I still apply?
Unfortunately no. You must be a current full time student to be eligible to apply.

Can I have classes/study abroad during the summer?
Yes! The unique feature of this position is that you don’t have summer commitment with Orientation. However, you have to be back in time for the OL training (check dates and commitments for details).

No, resumes are not necessary. However, the online application will require you to answer a few questions regarding: any previous employment, campus or community organizations you may be currently involved in, any leadership positions you may have held within those organizations, leadership training (retreats/conferences) you have participated in, and why you are interested in the Orientation Leader position.
INTERVIEWS

Once I apply to be an Orientation Leader, am I automatically granted an individual interview time slot?
No. Beginning Monday, March 22, the Office of Orientation will begin reviewing applications. If you are invited to the individual interview, you will receive a confirmation e-mail asking you to sign up for an individual interview, which will take place between Tuesday, March 26 – Friday, March 29 at 5:00pm.

What should I wear to the individual interview?
The Individual Interview is formal, so we suggest wearing an outfit that is comfortable to you, yet professional and appropriate for an interview setting.

What if I can’t attend the Individual Interviews?
Each stage of the application process is required. There are several time slots that hopefully will work with your schedule. If not, we encourage you to consider applying for the Orientation Leader role in a future year.

What happens if I don’t sign up for an interview on time?
We will try to contact you before the deadline to sign up for the Individual Interview, but if you do not select a time slot, we will assume that you do not wish to continue in the application process. It is your responsibility as the candidate to follow-through on this portion of the application process.

Will I know the questions beforehand?
No. Just like most professional or leadership role interviews, you will not be privy to the questions before arriving to either the Individual Interview. However, generally speaking, you can expect to be ready to share why you are interested in the Orientation Leader position, why you believe you are qualified, and how you connect with the Office of Orientation’s main mission and vision and the six (6) Orientation Leader Competencies.

How early before my interview should I arrive?
We suggest arriving 10 to 15 minutes before your scheduled time.

How long is the Individual Interview?
You can expect for your Individual Interview to last between 20 to 25 minutes.

Do I need to bring a copy of anything with me to the interviews?
No – just bring a smile and a great attitude!

What is the best way to prepare for the interviews?
We suggest being familiar with the Office of Orientation’s mission and vision and the Orientation Leader Information Packets (found here: https://www.usf.edu/orientation/get-involved/index.aspx). Reviewing our six (6) Orientation Leader Competencies and be ready to discuss which is your favorite and why for approximately two (2) to three (3) minutes. The six (6) Competencies will be provided to you should you be notified of an Individual Interview.

What does the interview look like?
The Individual Interview is more tailored to your specific interest in the position, your qualifications, and how you connect with the Office of Orientation’s main mission and vision and the six (6) Orientation Leader Competencies.
When will I be notified of the next step?
If you move on to an Individual Interview, you will be notified by Tuesday, March 26. After the Individual Interview, the Office of Orientation will notify you on Tuesday, April 9 if you have received a role on the 2019 Orientation Leader team. You will then need to accept this offer by Friday, April 12 at 5:00pm.

Are the interviews just with one person? Or will there be a lot of people interviewing me at once?
There will just be you and a few Orientation staff members present.

GENERAL/JOB-RELATED

What types of characteristics or abilities are you looking for in the Orientation Leader candidates?
The Office of Orientation is seeking students who have a willingness to learn and grow as a student, person, and leader. In addition, students should be committed to the idea of servant leadership, have critical thinking skills, have a high level of emotional intelligence, are able to manage themselves and others, rely on effective means of communication, and live a life congruent with the purpose of helping new students and families have a seamless transition to USF. A full breakdown of the various competencies that each candidate should possess are listed under “Competencies” in each Orientation Leader position’s Information Packet (found here: https://www.usf.edu/orientation/get-involved/index.aspx).

What if I have to miss some of the Glo-Bull Beginnings Week dates and/or training dates?
When you apply, you are committing to all the dates. If you are already aware of an obligation that will mean missing a day (or another commitment listed on the “Dates and Commitments” pages of the Information Packet), please tell Orientation staff before accepting the role. If we are unable to work through the conflict with you, we suggest you consider applying for the Orientation Leader role in a future year.
