

University of South Florida, Conference 2022

Jose A. Puppim de Oliveira

Jose A. Puppim de Oliveira is a faculty member at FGV (Fundação Getulio Vargas), Brazil, with extensive research experience in global environmental change and cities. He also teaches at the Institute for Global Public Policy (IGPP) of the Fudan University (Shanghai) and the Universidad Andina Simon Bolivar (Quito). His research and policy interests concentrate in patterns of governance, institution building and policy implementation at different levels, looking at how global and national institutions are interlinked to local governance and action. His experience comprises research, consultancy and policy work in more than 20 countries in all continents. He has been an instructor, consultant and researcher for several organizations such as different United Nations agencies, the OECD, the World Bank, sub-national and national governments, and various NGOs and small and large firms. His research resulted in several academic and policy publications as well as fed into policy processes such as IPCC reports and UN discussions. He has published twelve books and more than 100 articles in peer-reviewed journals. He is editor-in-chief of the journal Public Administration and Development (PAD, Wiley) and member of several editorial boards. Previously, he was senior research fellow at the United Nations University (UNU-IAS), faculty member at the University College London (UK) and a Marie Curie Fellow the University of Santiago de Compostela (Spain). He holds a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and is among the most influential researchers worldwide (<https://elsevier.digitalcommonsdata.com/datasets/btchxktzyw/3>).

More information at: <http://ebape.fgv.br/en/faculty/jose-puppim>