

Bio Patel College of Global Sustainability – April 2020

Patrizia La Trecchia

Dr. La Trecchia is a media and cultural studies scholar who studies food systems, culinary culture, and environmental studies. Her interests include sustainable food movement, eco-food cinema, food justice, migration, globalization, food security, and food waste. She is currently working on a book on the sustainable food movement and visual representations of environmental resistance and activism in the food system entitled Foodscares of Resistance: Eco-Food Cinema and Sustainability in Italy. She has been teaching food culture courses for the past decade (e.g. "Food Culture in the Mediterranean"). She is a TED speaker on food waste.