

Melissa Solberg

Tampa International Airport Sustainability Manager

Melissa Solberg is the Sustainability Manager at Tampa International Airport (TPA) and part of a diverse team leading the airport through an historic period of construction and growth. In her position Ms. Solberg is responsible TPA's sustainability and employee wellness programs.

Melissa has been a sustainability professional for over 18 years.

She earned her LEED AP status in 2001 with owner- and consultant-based experience on over thirty LEED projects nationally and internationally. Melissa was a USGBC Detroit Regional Chapter founding board member, participated on USGBC national committees and is an Education@USGBC Pro-Reviewer. Melissa currently participates in the Airports Council International (ACI-NA) environmental committee and sustainability working group, is a member of the Tampa Bay Clean Cities Coalition executive steering committee and an advisory member for the University of South Florida Masters in Urban and Regional Planning program.

