

USF's Global Discovery Hub

Discover

To access the Global Discovery Database, visit www.usf.edu/gdh and:

- Please “Sign in” at upper right corner of the page – use your USF NetID to access the site
- Your profile will automatically be created and pre-populated with your NetID information when you do so. You will find yourself on your profile home page at this point and can begin to add your activities (see right).
- From the home page (below), you can explore USF partnerships, plot your global footprint in the Faculty section, learn about USF's student mobility, and view summary reports for USF activity abroad.

Plot Your Global Footprint...

- Any activity information that is added to your profile in the Database will be displayed on the faculty “Map” by location.

- To add an activity to your profile, simply click on “[Your NetID] - My Profile” in the upper right hand corner of the site.
- Select the “My Activities” tab in the tan header bar above your basic profile information.

- Click on the “Add an activity” button and add the required information to begin your list of international activities.

And Search That of Others

Searching the Database for other faculty and staff information is easy:

- Ensure that the “Faculty” tab is selected at the top of the website.

- Search the database of activities for a desired keyword, location, institution, activity type, and/or date.
- Search results can be displayed as a table or as a map. They may take a while to initially load, so please be patient!
- Table results can be displayed featuring “Activities” or “People” and sorted by date, last name, and location within the table.
- Questions on your profile or how to navigate the system can be directed to Laurel Thomas at lkthomas@usf.edu.
